

Hey there! I'm Suze, the mastermind behind my fabulous website and blog, and the proud owner of Songbirds N Soulmates Wedding and Event Planning LLC! I share my life with my amazing husband and our two gigantic Newfies, who are basically fluffy bundles of joy—just don't let them near my office, or chaos will take over!

My love affair with weddings started at the tender age of 6 when I got to be the flower girl at my Aunt and Uncle's big day. Since then, I've been utterly enchanted by everything wedding-related! I've organized my own wedding from A to Z and have helped friends and family plan everything from bridal showers to baby showers.

Weddings? Oh, I'm all about the couples, the love, the families, the food, the flowers, the venues, the vows, the toasts, the dancing, the photos, the cake... you name it!
I'm basically a wedding enthusiast on a mission!

With a rich history in management roles, I've become the resilient go-getter I am today. Plus, I'm no stranger to the entrepreneurial scene—I've been rocking my online boutique, Sass N Class Boutique LLC, since 2008!

When I'm not orchestrating dream weddings or selling to my clients through my boutique, you can find me delving into new hobbies, exploring creative outlets, or simply enjoying a quiet evening at home with my family. Whether it's trying out a new recipe or getting lost in Canva, I cherish these moments of tranquility and inspiration.

Additionally, I'm passionate about giving back to the community. I love organizing charity events to support causes close to my heart. It's incredibly fulfilling to use my skills to make a positive impact and bring people together for a good cause.

If you're looking for someone who's not just a planner, but a partner in creating cherished memories, I'm your person. Let's make magic happen and turn your vision into reality.
Here's to love, laughter, and a whole lot of happily ever afters!

